Plans are coming together for the Broome County Expo 2010. BAE has announced that they will again have the hybrid bus presentation.

BAE hybrid bus presentation at Fire Expo 2009

Last year's class was very well received and everyone who attended said they learned a lot about the technology, components, and hazards associated with these new buses. With many of the buses already on the streets in Broome County and other areas this is critical information for all emergency responders. The information provided by BAE was excellent; engineers were on hand to answer your questions and you got a chance to view all of the areas of the bus to see where critical components were housed. If you did not attend these sessions in 2009, we hope that you will attend in 2010 to learn about hybrid buses.
